This, however, does not mean that you need to fill the entire container. With FCL shipping, you may fill the container only partially, which is a fairly common practice in the ocean freight industry.

➡ LC Facilities:

The Muslin International Limited offer LC opening facilities to some special customers those who have not have their IRC to import their goods from various countries all over the world.

➡ Less than Container Load (LCL):

In ocean freight, LCL shipping stands for- Less than Container Load or groupage. When choosing LCL shipping, be it for an import or export, your cargo is consolidated with other shippers' goods to fill a container. The LCL shipping rate is determined by volume and weight and you are charged only for the space the cargo occupies in the container. When you book your LCL shipment, make sure to calculate your LCL volume as you will need to provide this to your freight forwarder to obtain an LCL shipping quote.
